No claims are allowed against employees of the GAZETTE to offset any of our accounts.

All advertisements for the WEEKLY GAZETTE must be [illegible] not later than Thursday noon.

Advertisers [illegible] that we do not want any advertising from them.

H. W. STEELE,
Manager of the GAZETTE.

Yesterday a man was hung within three minutes from the time he left his cell. The advocates of the use of electricity in matters of this kind will find this record difficult to surpass.

Several of the citizens of Florence, Colo., have subscribed for several copies of the Oil Refinery, published by J. W. Work, to send throughout the country. This is the most judicious way of advertising, if the papers are only sent to the right parties.

We are receiving letters from all parts of the country asking for copies of the New Year's edition of the GAZETTE. Several papers in the east which have received copies of our paper through friends who have been [illegible] have published very pleasant notices. This has induced some of their readers to send for the [illegible]. The sale still continues.

After [illegible] delay Speaker Carlisle's right to his seat has been confirmed. The course which Mr. Carlisle took to establish his claim to the seat, while it may have been perfectly consistent with all forms of legal procedure, will not remove the doubts cast upon the legality of his election. It would have been better for Mr. Carlisle's reputation to have had the case thoroughly investigated.

The interview of the delegation from the Denver chamber of commerce with President Cable of the Rock Island, regarding the making of Denver the [illegible] terminus of the [illegible] seems to have been [illegible] of any definite results. Mr. Cable [illegible] the [illegible] claims of Denver would receive the most careful consideration. The Denver [illegible] should now [illegible] the immediate [illegible] of the Rock Island by the merchants of that city.

T. P. Gill, M. P., in one of his telegraph letters to the New York Tribune, says that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is a convert to home rule. If so it will make a greater sensation than the resignation of Churchill from the cabinet. He succeeded Northcote as the leader of the conservatives in the house of commons. In length and character of service to his party he stands second only to Lord Salisbury. The change will not only be remarkable because of his position in the home rule party, but because of his great experience in Irish affairs as Irish secretary. [illegible] and Trevelyan are the three Englishmen now living who have had the greatest experience in Irish [illegible] and they all agree in demanding home rule.

Some of our [illegible] contemporaries in the east are very much troubled about the [illegible] that the Cobden club is [illegible] ing in this country to influence legislation, but it is very much like the cry of "Stop thief." There never has been any evidence that there was any money expended in directly influencing legislation by this organization. The cry is raised by the trust companies who are just now spending a great deal of money in order to retain those taxes which will enable them to continue their organizations without interference. It is rather a notorious fact that they now own certain newspapers in this country which do not express any honest opinions, but are simple the organs of these great monopolies. They also, through a common fund, not only pay the election expenses of some of our members of congress, but have liberally applied them with funds when hard up. According to generally accepted ideas of honesty, it is improper for any member of congress to have his election expenses or household expenses paid by any society which is organized to influence legislation. If he is so entitled [illegible] practically unfits him for taking the oath which he takes as a member of the house. The practice is wrong whoever is responsible for it, whether free traders or protectionists. Though this cry about British gold is raised only by [illegible] we regret to say there is plenty of evidence of a systematic effort to hold up the duties on several articles, but there is no evidence of systematic effort to abolish the duty on any article except the effort made by [illegible] manufacturers in the east to reduce the tariff on wool.

Colorado Springs Versus Davos.

The London Medical Press [illegible] of December 21st contained [illegible] ed comments on Dr. Clinton Wagner's paper on Colorado Springs and Davos Platz, compared, read before the New York Academy of Medicine. Where the word Colorado [illegible] Colorado Springs is referred to.

The selection [illegible] the residence of [illegible] sonally [illegible] dry air or a high altitude [illegible] and it is consequently a matter of importance to them to possess [illegible] of particular districts in this [illegible]. To this end a number of papers [illegible] and even [illegible] of the profession, but [illegible] it can hardly now be [illegible] are unanimous [illegible] on the one point that in very many instances consumptives are benefited, and their lives even preserved, by removal to places situated on the mountain slopes high above the sea. In Europe a great reputation has for some time been enjoyed by Davos in Switzerland, a valley of the Alps, 5,200 feet above the sea level [illegible] powerful [illegible] [illegible]. This little is placed [illegible] above the sea, and is sheltered by [illegible] range of mountains [illegible] feet in height [illegible] of an upland desert. [illegible] extreme rapidity, which at Davos [illegible] some time [illegible] distinctly [illegible] At Colorado Springs the [illegible] few days in the year [illegible] Davos [illegible] could be [illegible] spect. Moreover [illegible] to reside permanently [illegible] year at the former [illegible] Davos [illegible] in Spring, owing [illegible] ing from the melting snow.

These points were [illegible] upon by Dr. C[illegible], in a [illegible] read by him before the New York [illegible] ency of Medicine [illegible] Colorado [illegible] Davos [illegible] in favor of Davos. Dr. [illegible] sisted that in the [illegible] which prevailed at Colorado [illegible] an undoubted superiority; and he further contended that the [illegible] mosphere was preserved [illegible] presence of snow, though he admitted the necessity [illegible] of leaving during the spring months. Dr. Kretschmann [illegible] drawback to Davos [illegible] equally the resort of [illegible] pleasure [illegible] this led to the injury of the latter, owing to their being tempted to indulgence in habits injurious to their condition. Apparently [illegible] tion the statements made by Dr. Wagner to the effect that [illegible] amount of outdoor life could be indulged in at Colorado [illegible] Davos owing to the [illegible] ber of sunny days and this [illegible] ference was commented on by most of the speakers participating in the debate. The attention which has been drawn of late years to Colorado as a health resort for consumptives is certainly justified by the highly encouraging reports of cases which have been highly benefited by residence there, and for [illegible] through for such patients [illegible] mand the resources for such a [illegible] that it offers better and more lasting prospects than any European resort of a similar character. There must, of course, be taken into account that by invalids on this side of the Atlantic a long and even troublesome voyage be undertaken ere they can reach it, but as the cases of illness most calculated to be permanently improved by residence there are those in which disease is in its early stages so they are the [illegible] to [illegible] future involved. It is quite possible that a much more free use of the natural advantages of Colorado will be made by Europeans in the future and in view of this possibility it is satisfactory to learn that good comfortable home accommodation is obtainable there by visitors for though the place is not, like Davos, besprinkled by luxurious hotels this is hardly a drawback to those whose first aim is health and quiet, and not amusement and racket.

Vici[illegible] Dogs.

A consultation of physicians was held this morning in the case of Thomas E. French, a prominent Camden lawyer, his wife, and Jennie Young the [illegible] year old daughter of a neighbor, all of whom were frightfully torn and [illegible] yesterday afternoon by two huge mastiffs owned by Mr. French. Drs. Agnew of Philadelphia, Godfrey, Walsh and Pa[illegible] of Camden, were present at Mr. French's residence, No. 47 York street. They decided to administer chloroform to Mr. French and graft skin from his [illegible] on his nose, a part of which had been torn away by the dogs. Mr. French stood the operation well, and the physicians hope to be able to [illegible] the nose to its natural shape. Mrs. French's neck and scalp were lacerated and torn, and the [illegible] little Jenny Young, the girl who was first attacked by the mastiffs in Mr. French's kitchen, is not seriously hurt, and [illegible] suffers most from nervous prostration.

The fierce onslaught of the mastiffs on the little girl and Mr. and Mrs. French cannot be accounted for. Mr. French has owned the dogs for the past eight years. They are his special pride, and the children of the neighborhood played with the big animals without a tremor [illegible] Mr. French secured the dogs from Thomas H. Dudley, by whom they were bred as "The Grange." They are a cross between the English mastiff and St. Bernard species and were noted for their watchfulness and strength. The [illegible] were killed [illegible] Mr. French's order.—[Philadelphia [illegible].

The people who, in the midst of a city or big town, persist in keeping about the premises great brutes of dogs to the [illegible] of their neighborhoods [illegible] [illegible] case it was the owner of the [illegible] and his own people who [illegible] sufferers but they [illegible] [illegible] Philadelphia Telegraph.

There is no professional florist in Washington who can rival her in the [illegible] growing of rare and beautiful roses.

Mr. McCulloch annually sends flowers in [illegible] of the choicest cut flowers as presents to her [illegible] friends, for the decoration of churches and for the adornment of the sick wards of the hospitals. If Mrs. McCulloch ever neglected any of the many duties of her home it was for the sake of sweet charity, which, with her, has not always begun at home. There is hardly another lady in Washington who works more actively for church and charitable institutions. In fact, her work would soon tire out many of the young ladies and matrons of the present day, though Mrs. McCulloch is only ten years the junior of her [illegible] husband. Having frequently visited and lived several years in Europe for the sake of completing the education of her daughters, both she and they have acquired a perfect command of many languages, and one rarely [illegible] a better informed lady than Mrs. McCulloch. Mr. Ed. [illegible] is in the city [illegible]

The extensive addition to the Cliff house at Manitou, which Gillis Bros. are erecting, will be finished about March 1st.

Messrs P. M. Keen and A. F. Woodward, of Monument, were in the city yesterday. They predict a great boom for Monument real estate in the spring.

William [illegible] the man who was in[illegible] at the coal chute on the Denver & Rio Grande rail[illegible] a week ago Friday morning, died at the poor house on Saturday and was buried at the county's expense.

Charles [illegible] was yesterday bound over to the [illegible] court by Justice of the Pe[illegible] Cor[illegible] in $200 bail on a charge of grand larceny. The offense was committed last December and consisted in the taking of a gold watch from a man whom the accused was nursing in this city. Not being able to furnish bail, he was admitted to the county jail.

Mr. Peter Fenelon, who has been living on what is known as the "Teachout" ranch at Edgerton for several years past, died in this city at an early hour yesterday morning. He was interested in the stock business and located in this neighborhood for the benefit of his health. The funeral services will take place this morning at 10 o'clock at the Catholic church.

Dr. W. C. Allen a homeopathic physician of New York, in company with two residents of this city, has purchased "Woodside," on East Pike's Peak avenue. The property will be put in first-class order, when well furnished rooms will be for rent, both in the large house and in the cottage. The doctor will open an office in the residence some time next month. He comes well recommended.

Madame Ostrander, of Denver, who delighted the large audience at the opera house last Friday evening by her charming rendition of the character of "Ruth," has expressed her intention of presenting in this city a popular operetta. Madame Ostrander will be assisted by a company of superior Denver artists. Such an entertainment would give her a favorable opportunity for displaying her [illegible]

Rev. I. B. Self of Canon City, grand chief templar of I. O. G. T., will deliver his illustrated temperance lecture entitled, "Beware of Dogs" at the Congregational church next Thursday evening. The lecture is illustrated by a dozen or more pictures drawn by an inmate of the Colorado state penitentiary. Admission free. On Friday evening at the same place Mr. Self will give a war lecture entitled "What I Know about War, or a Southern Yank's Experience in the Rebellion." A general admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged for this lecture.

[illegible] regular weekly rehearsal of the [illegible] Choral society will take place at the Congregational church this evening at half past seven o'clock. The membership fee for the balance of the season during which Handel's "Elijah" will be studied has been placed [illegible] The cantata which was rendered by the society at the opera house last Friday evening was financially as well as artistically a success. The society is desirous of all suitable [illegible] and leave [illegible] in the treasury with which to continue its work for some time to come. It is hoped that a number of new members may be added to the society, in order that the oratorio, which is to be presented may be one of the great [illegible] entertainments ever given in the city.

Mr. D. M. Rose, who died [illegible] last Sunday morning, was among the oldest and most respected citizens of this community. He was born in Pennsylvania, and removed to Winnebago county, Illinois, in 1839. In 1860 failing health induced him to come to Colorado. He located a ranch about two miles south of the city, which he made his home until last July, when he removed to this city. He devoted himself almost exclusively to farming and stock raising, with great success. There was no better authority on matters pertaining to these industries in the county than Mr. Rose. He was a staunch republican and always labored for the success of that party's principles. He enjoyed a large circle of acquaintances, by whom his loss will be severely felt. At the time of his death he was 71 years and 11 months old. The funeral will take place this afternoon at one o'clock at the southwest corner of Vermijo and Nevada avenues. Friends of the family are invited.

Haverly's Mastodon minstrels gave a [illegible] and satisfactory performance at the [illegible] last evening. The audience was the largest ever in the [illegible] house at any theatrical performance. Standing room was at a premium, and many who came late were unable to gain admittance. The entertainment provided by this excellent company was complete in every respect. The first part was almost entirely free from the ordinary stereotyped jokes and antiquated puns. The singing was particularly fine. In the metropolitan quintette, consisting of Messrs Green, Bridges, Leighton, Rodgers and Tomasso, Mr. Haverly has a company of vocalists of more than ordinary ability. The equilibrist act of "Hilton" was one of the most striking features [illegible] The funny comedians Spencer and Edwards were at their best, and kept the audience in a roar. The Herbert Morello troupe of acrobats are a whole show in themselves, and [illegible] with round after round of applause. There was not a weak spot in the entire performance. Haverly's minstrels [illegible] and merit a flattering reception wherever they may appear. The impression which they have made this [illegible] has been a very favorable one, and this is easily explained when the merits of the performance are recognized.
